EXTEND STATE RELIEF GROUP AFTER DEBATE

SENATE VOTES 45 MILLIONS FOR ITS USE

Reverses Decision In Extending Life Of Present Body

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Reversing itself, the senate late today voted to leave in the hands of the Illinois Emergency Relief Commission the job for caring for the state's destitute jobless.

Administration forces, at full strength during the afternoon session, also passed the bill appropriating $45,000,000 of state funds to the Relief Commission.

Both bills went to the house, where democratic members are under a caucus pledge to support the plan to extend the life of the much criticized relief commission.

Because many democrats were absent, Louis O. Williams of Clinton, the governor's downstate spokesman in the upper house, failed to get majority support this morning and had to wait several hours before finally obtaining passage of his bills.

Several legislators from both parties objected that the senate's action was inconsistent since it recently passed the Hickman bill to substitute for the IERC a state relief director who would share authority with county boards in distributing funds.

With no debate, the vote was 29 to 7 for the $45,000,000 appropriation, which is to come from the increased sales tax at a rate of not more than $3,000,000 monthly.

Then the senate voted 30 to 11 to extend from August 1 to March 1, 1937, the life of the Relief Commission, which otherwise would pass out of existence this summer.

Noah M. Mason, Oglesby republican, charged the Horner administration had broken its promise, made when the sales tax was increased to three per cent, to provide a new relief setup for downstate counties.

Others contended the senate should not back up on the state relief director bill, by W. H. Hickman, Paris democrat, that was sent to the house several weeks ago.

Rollo M. Shaw, Lawrenceville democrat, expressed the belief that with John C. Martin of Salem as chairman of the IERC the cost of relief will be reduced and efficiency promoted.

Horner Signs Eight Bills Handed Him

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Governor Horner today signed eight bills passed by the legislature. They included a bill permitting downstate municipalities to set up working funds and the following appropriations:

$4,953.18 to Fayette county for prosecution of inmates escaping from the Vandalia prison farm.

$15,000 for deficiency payment of Senate employes.

$750,000 to the secretary of state for administering the uniform motor vehicle anti-theft act.

$500,000 to the state treasurer for inheritance tax refunds.

$24,000 to the lieutenant-governor.

$73,000 for state house repairs.

Brimming Noggin Of Gin Revives A North Woods Doe

South Yarmouth, Mass., June 18.—(AP)—A doe, roaming Cape Cod tonight owed its life to the courage of Mrs. Charles Boma and a brimming noggin of gin.

Mrs. Boma saw the animal struggling feebly in the waters of Nantucket sound, apparently having just fallen short of negotiating a 14-mile swim from the island of Nantucket or Martha's Vineyard.

She plunged in and brought the deer ashore, but the animal was unable to stand and appeared on the point of expiring.

Mrs. Boma rushed into her cottage and returned with a stout ration of gin. The restorative acted to quickly that the deer sprang up and, describing a zig-zag course, vanished in the woods.

SECURITY PLAN WILL BE VOTED IN U. S. SENATE

Amendment Exempting Private Plans Causes Delay

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—A Senate vote on the administration's social security bill was blocked today by an all day debate over an amendment to exempt private pension plans and repeated Democratic attacks on the constitutionality of the measure.

Senate leaders had hoped to dispose of the bill today, but when debate on the Clark amendment dragged on they finally compromised with an agreement to vote on it tomorrow and limit debate so that the entire bill would be disposed of by nightfall.

The amendment was offered by Senator Clark, (D., Mo.), who contended many private systems were more liberal than the plan proposed by the government. He sought to exempt from the contemplated six per cent tax against employers and employes all companies which had plans as good or better than the public plan.

Support was given the amendment by Senator George, (D., Ga.), one of the Senate's constitutional lawyers, who contended there was serious question of the constitutionality of the proposed law. He argued that unless the Clark amendment was adopted the plans might wreck the private pension systems now in effect, then be declared invalid by the courts, and leave employes no protection.

Brewery Operators Opposed To Federal Licensing Measure

Conference To Speed Group To Washington To Fight Proposed Law

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Delegates from 453 of the nation's 742 licensed breweries today announced themselves "unalterably opposed" to federal statutory regulation of the brewing industry.

The conference, which spokesmen said was the largest and most representative gathering of United States brewers ever assembled, adopted by a thundering verbal vote a resolution presented by Sol Abrams, of Milwaukee, official of the Schlitz Brewing Company.

It instructed the group's permanent chairman, Herbert Charles, of St. Paul, to notify the House finance and ways and means committees that the industry is "unalterably opposed to any statute system of brewery control which places the brewers under permit and writes into this statute an inflexible code of fair trades practices x x x"

Action on the resolution followed speedily after the United States Brewers Association telephoned to the conference a transcript of a bill providing for the licensing of all makers of alcoholic beverages. Spokesman said they understood the federal permit system provided in the bill was designed to replace former NRA legislation affecting alcoholic beverage manufacturers.

The conference announced a committee will be speeded to Washington tomorrow to study the measure and seek changes in its deemed necessary.

JAPANESE WIN DEMANDS IN CHINESE AREA

Governor Of Chahar Is Ousted By Agreement

Copyright, 1935, by the Associated Press.

Tientsin, China, June 18.—(AP)—China, yielding again to Japanese army demands, today ousted Gen. Sung Cheh-Yuan, as governor of Chahak province and ordered the 132nd Chinese Division to evacuate Chahar.

That was the price the iron-fisted Japanese demanded in settlement of the "Changpei incident," the detention last week at Changpei of four Japanese whose papers, Chinese officials asserted, were not in order.

Japanese spokesmen also hinted that liquidation of the Chahar issue brought all phases of the three-weeks-old North China crisis "to the stage of amicable settlement."

Maj.-Gen. Kenji Dohiara, director of the special service division of Japan's Kwantung army and the "Lawrence of Manchuria," announced the "principal terms" of the Chahar settement, saying the final and formal agreement would be reached at Kalgan near the scene of the incident.

To replace the dismissed Gen. Sung as Chahar governor, the National government at Nanking named Civil Commissioner Chin Tehchuan whom Japanese army spokesmen praised highly for his work as negotiator on behalf of Sung in the Changpei issue.

(At Nanking, the National government declined to comment on Sung's dismissal, although an official statement said "another military post awaits him which has not been decided.")

As though to emphasize the complete teness of the Japanese's army's bloodless victory in its controversy with China, veteran Japanese troops garrisoned at Tientsin during the last year began moving out, leaving only 800 new arrivals here.

Japanese officers said concentration of troops along the Great Wall would continue, however, although they denied any "drastic action" in North China was contemplated.

Wagner Labor Bill Shoved To Top Of Calendar In House

Arrange Schedule To Clear Up Work By Middle Of July; Heat Wave Hits City

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—In a headlong rush toward a goal of adjournment in less than a month, house majority chieftains tonight pushed the Wagner Labor Disputes bill to the top of their "must" list and sought to enact it by Thursday night.

At the same time, some senate leaders placed the Guffy coal stabilization bill as their next order of business after the social security plan. The Guffy bill still is in the hearing stage in the house.

Despite a blistering heat wave, the very atmosphere on Capitol Hill was electric. Things had moved fairly slowly for six and a half months, but developed today into a race between house and senate to see which could finish first.

Other "must" bills and their schedule:

Urgent deficiency appropriatoins—to reach house floor Friday and be passed and sent to senate the same day.

Utilities holding company—bus regulation, and Tennessee Valley authority amendments—passed by senate, awaiting promised house committee approval late this week and house passage next week.

Nuisance tax extension—passed by house, awaiting senate committee endorsement and a turn on the senate floor.

Federal alcohol control—new bill agreed to by President Roosevelt; house ways and means hearings scheduled to start Wednesday night.

Omnibus banking—Passed by house, pending in senate banking committee with some talking about junking controversial title 2 which broadens federal control over the reserve system.

Ship subsidy—Approved by house committee, due for consideration on floor next week or the week after.

Negro Affairs Body Asked In Congress

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—The house judiciary committee today took under advisement a plea by Representative Mitchell (D. Ill.), the nation's only negro congressman, for approval of his bill creating an industrial commission on negro affairs.

Mitchel said, after a hearing at which negro leaders appeared, that he was confident he would have little difficulty pushing the resolution through this session.

The bill provides for the creation of a commission of five, each serving six years, which would work for the betterment of the negro race, much the same as the government now administers Indian problems.

Horse Drinks Gas, Eats Upholstery, And Lives To Work

Joliet, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Because Nellie was hungry and thirsty and Park Policeman James Barrowman's parked car was handy, Nellie drank from a bucket of gasoline on the running board, licked part of the paint from the car and munched away part of the uphostery inside.

Barrowman told the park board all about it last night, and because the board owns Nellie and uses her to haul a lawn mower in Pilcher park the members voted to settle with Barrowman for $5.

At the park stables it was reported that Nellie was still as good a mare as she ever was.

POLICE BREAK UP FIGHTING IN VANCOUVER

17 Injured As Royal Mounted Rushes To Rescue

Vancouver, B. C., June 18.—(AP)—Bloody street rioting broke out here today when police tried to scatter a crowd of 1,000 striking longshoremen and their sympathizers who attempted to march onto the Ballantyne pier.

A barrage of tear gas bombs broke among the seething ranks of the marchers, including women, and the fighting soon spread over a wide area.

Royal Canadian mounted police broke through the struggling masses to rescue a group of city police surrounded by strikers.

Eight policemen and at least nine civilians required hospital treatment for injuries received in the three-hour melee, and scores of other persons received minor hurts or were affected by the tear gas. Ambulances raced to the disorder to pick up the more seriously hurt.

Rocks, sticks and other weapons were used by the strikers. Police were knocked down and their uniforms torn to ribbons.

Small groups of officers detached from the main police body suffered severely.

The opponents battled two hours and then the rioting began afresh over an area of several blocks reaching out from the Ballantyne pier district.

The trouble followed efforts of the longshoremen to obtain permission for a delegation to visit the dock to talk to men of another union working ships there.

Permission was refused and about 200 men marched to the pier, where they were joined by hundreds of others.

Royal Canadian mounted police, guarding the pier, retreated when the crowd approached and when it ignored commands to halt unleashed a tear gas barrage.

Work Relief Not To Loan 55 Percent Of Project Any Longer

Ickes Refuses To Answer Any Charges Of Outlawing Local Projects

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—Battling to avert elimination of local public works projects from the $4,000,000,000 relief program, Secretary Ickes contended today the entire $900,000,000 authorized for non-federal jobs could be utilized despite White House emphasis on speed and a low-cost average.

Although chairman of the works allotment board, Ickes declined to reply to charges by spokesmen of contractors and road builders that the White House limit of $1,100 to $1,200 per worker on each project annually would outlaw "useful and permanent" construction.

Ickes' public works administration figured many local projects could be brought within the $1,200 limit because while the cost per man on 4,081 completed projects was $2,132, the cost to the government on a 45 per cent donation basis would be only $959.

Further Ickes explained that in the future no work relief funds would be loaned for the remaining 55 per cent which either will be supplied by private borrowing or by loans from the PWA revolving fund.

Although he offered no explanation for President Roosevelt's delay in approving $249,000,000 in low-cost housing projects, as recommended by the allotment committee, Ickes expressed confidence they all would be approved because they were in a "special class," exempted from the general average.

DEAN OF WOMEN AT MONMOUTH RESIGNS

Monmouth, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Miss Mary Ross Potter, Dean of women at Monmouth College since 1929, has resigned and announced her retirement from active work, it was learned today. Prior to assuming her position here, Miss Potter served for 24 years as Dean of women and counsellor of women at Northwestern University.

GERMANY SETS UP NEW POOL TO GET GOODS

Want Million Marks To Purchase Army Equipment

Berlin, June 18.—(AP)—Germany's new billion marks dumping pool, a desperate effort to get foreign raw material, presumably for army purposes, was beginning to fill today through levies on industry, great and small.

Orders are being sent to pay up and Dr. Hjalmer Schacht, minister of economics, set the collection of the first 100,000,000 marks as June's total.

Creation of the pool was announced some time ago. A Reichsbank official appraised the possibilities of the various industrial plants, laying the levies arbitrarily. In some instances they amounted to more than the profits the firm made last year.

Total industry will be forced to pay some 200,000,000 marks more than all industrial profits amounted to in 1934.

The rearmament program was increased by the naval understanding with England, which Germany interprets as giving her freedom to go ahead in the rebuilding of her navy. This is believed to get at the bottom of this unusual method of building up foreign exchange abroad, with which to get raw materials.

This view was expressed by business circles and is accepted by foreign diplomatic missions.

Substitute materials, experts say, have not worked out well for the army, which now badly needs some 300,000,000 to 400,000,000 marks worth of raw materials to keep up the rearmament pace set by Adolf Hitler.

Through the dumping pool, which experts estimate will bring in from 300,000,000,000 to 400,000,000,000 marks of new business, the army's needs can be handled without the country's regular foreign exchange needs.

Slayer Of Peoria Girl Unidentified After Police Hunt

Question Half Dozen Youths After Discovery Of Body In Cemetery

Peoria, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—The slayer of Mildred M. Hallmark, 19, pretty cafe hostess, remained unidentified tonight after police brought face to face the girl's sweetheart and a youth accused of having paid her unwelcome attentions, only to have both produce what authorities described as perfect alibis.

Questioning of a half-dozen youths following the discovery early yesterday of the girl's bruised and almost nude body in Springdale cemetery failed to produce a single lead on which police could press their search for the killer, acting police chief Fred Nussbaum said.

Ross Porter, 20, sought over several Central Illinois counties after police were told he had at various times attempted to force his attentions on Miss Hallmark, was found at his home here today.

Facing Vincent Pilgrim, 19, suitor of the girl, Porter declared that he was nowhere near the scene of the attack. Pilgrim likewise accounted for his whereabouts during the supposed time of the attack—about midnight Sunday.

Several other youths, among them one Miss Hallmark had accompanied to a picture show a few hours before her death, and one seized after he had washed his automobile with gasoline to remove what police at first believed were blood stains, were freed today.

Porter, located after police traced him to Dixon and Kewanee, where he had gone with his father to setup and remove convention decorations, claimed that he was out of town Sunday night.

Police admitted tonight that in addition to the blanket and torn cloth they have what may become an important clue—a smudged fingerprint taken from Miss Hallmark's black patent leather purse.

KANKAKEE DEMOCRAT TO OPPOSE HORNER

Springfield, Ill., June 18—(AP)—Reports circulated today that Rep. James T. Burns of Kankakee would be a candidate for the democratic nomination for governor next year. Members of the Veterans of Foreign Wars said they were asked to distribute announcement cards in his behalf.

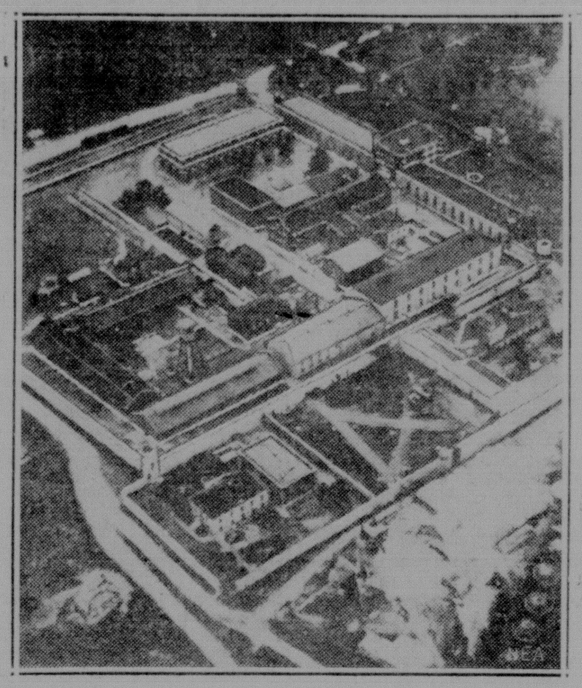

During his four terms in the house, Burns has actively pushed bills for governmental economy. He has been absent from Springfield for several months, due to illness.

AUTHORIZE DIVIDEND

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Directors of the Commonwealth Edison Company today authorized a dividend of $1.00 per share on outstanding capital stock, payable August 1 to all stockholders of record on July 15. Net income of the company for the first five months of 1935, the directors announced, was $4,501,184.32, as compared to a net income of $3,819,387.56 for the same period of 1934.

347 RIOTING KANSAS PRISONERS THREATEN TO WRECK COAL MINE

Where Prisoners Threatened Mine

Demanding a change in prison physicians and better food, 347 prisoners in the Kansas State prison, shown above, went on an underground strike yesterday, threatening to wreck the mine in which they were working.

SET FIRE TO HAY IN MINE; HOLD GUARDS

Demand Better Food And Removal Of Physician

BULLETIN

Lansing, Kas., June 19.—(AP)—(Wednesday)—A maddened mob of 347 mutinous convicts sent up word early today from the Kansas penitentiary coal mine where they struck for a new prison physician and better food that "we'll stick it out until we die, if we have to—but these nine guards must die with us."

Pausing in the midst of spreading fires and tumbling timber supports, the mutineers released two of 11 guards held as hostages to carry the word that "we can stay here until Friday—or Monday for that matter."

"The mine is almost a wreck now," Will T. Beck, member of the board of administration which met to consider the convicts demands, was told by Robert Murray, mine superintendent.

Murray was one of the two hostages released.

By Charles A. Grumich
Associated Press Staff Writer

Lansing, Kas., June 18.—(AP)—Defying tear gas and bullets, 347 rioting convicts in the smoke-filled Kansas penitentiary coal mine threatened tonight to "tear up the damn mine" unless demands for better food and a new prison physician were speedily granted.

Communicating by telephone with Warden Lacy Simpson, seated in the mine tipple, the raging mutineers rejected an invitation to come out with their 11 hostages and name a committee to present their demands before the state board of administration.

"We can't do anything with you down there," Simpson said. "Come on up and we'll treat you square."

"Nothing doing," the convict spokesman retorted. "And we'll tear up the damn mine if you don't do something right away."

The warden departed hastily for another conference with members of the board, who came here from Topeka, the capital, late today, some eight hours after the convicts mutinied.

Smoke continued to roll up the air shaft from a fire in the mine's mule barns at the 730-foot level. The convicts set fire to hay stored there to halt an advance upon them led by Deputy Warden A. J. Graham. The fire subsided late tonight after the 25 or 30 tons of hay, and sticks hurled into the blaze by convicts, had been consumed.

Graham and six armed guards were forced to retreat before the billowing smoke. They fired a dozen shots from pistols and shot-guns as they did so. After returning to the surface, Graham said he did not believe any of the convicts were wounded.

They saw no trace of the 10 guards and Mine Superintendent Robert Murray—presumably in the hands of the convicts deep in the black recesses of the mine.

It was not believed that either the striking convicts or their hostages had eaten since they descended between 6 and 7 a. m., Central Standard Time.

Heavy Rainfall Over West and South Does Damage; Rivers Rise

By The Associated Press

Heavy rains spread havoc anew through the west and south yesterday.

Turbulent waters burst levees, drove thousands of persons from lowlands, inundated huge tracts of agricultural land, washed out bridges and rail lines, disrupted highway traffic and inflicted unestimated losses upon many farmers and merchants. But only two new deaths were recorded as Jupiter Pluvius turned on the showers full force.

The Arkansas river forced out two levees and spilled over another, raising fear that 50,000 acres of land would be covered in Conway County, Arkansas. Burdened by torrential rain, it reached 31.2 feet at Fort Smith—the highest since 1929 and more than nine feet above flood level. Road and rail travel was interrupted. About 300 persons near Fort Smith evacuated. The Poteau river surged to its highest stage in 31 years. Telephone service was hampered by tornadic wind. Approximately one third of the state was cut off after reporting a destructive storm.

Flood water moved out of Texas, leaving 14 known dead, 30,000 flooded acres of corn and cotton and a $4,500,000 loss at Austin, and moved into Arkansas and Oklahoma.

Cloudbursts in southern Iowa carried away sections of rail and tons of soil, flooded basements and did severe crop damage. Homes were vacated near Ottumwa. The Grand river and many creeks went out of their channels for the third time this season.

The Mississippi rose two feet at Quincy, Ill. It was feared it would reach the flood stage soon. Automobile travel between Peoria and Canton was halted, and 650 feet of railroad track and hundreds acres of newly planted corn were washed out. Fulton county, beset by more than four inches of rain, estimated its damage at $50,000. The 800 persons who quit Gardner after a 10-inch downpour ventured back with their surviving livestock as the water receded.

Carrier Mills Boy Held For Shooting

Harrisburg, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Ted Beggs, of Carrier Mills, is held in the county jail here today charged with shooting and critically wounding his step son-in-law, Eugene Perry, 26, during a quarrel last night.

Beggs surrendered to Carrier Mills police following the shooting and was brought to the Harrisburg jail.

MOLINE JANITOR IS CONVICTED OF FRAUD

Peoria, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—Jack Olyf, janitor in a bank at Moline, Ill., was convicted today by Judge J. Eark Major in federal court on a charge of making a false statement to the Home Owners Loan corporation. He was tried without a jury and placed on probation for one year.

Maurice Parker, also of Moline, was placed on probation for one year after his conviction of violating federal liquor laws.

AAA CHANGES SWEEP HOUSE BY 3-1 VOTE

Hope To Keep Act From Death Sentence In U. S. Court

Washington, June 18.—(AP)—Amendments intended to protect the New Deal's farm program from a supreme court death sentence of "unconstitutionality" today swept through the house by a three-to-one majority.

Carefully phrased by Secretary Wallace and his aides in an effort to meet standards set by the high court in the NRA decision, the AAA amendments which have kicked about congressional corridors for months now looked to the senate for final approval.

Opposition there, which last year blocked action on similar legislation governing the handling and distribution of farm products, had lessened and leaders planned to push the revamped bill to an early vote.

So listless was the house contest over the AAA program that a record vote was not forced. Speaker Byrns counted 168 members standing in favor of passage to 52 against. Party lines split.

The long fight against the cotton processing tax by New England textile interests ran into an 87 to 17 vote rebuff on Wigglesworth's (R-Mass) motion to have cotton producers paid benefits directly out of the treasury.

Although some republicans, and a few democrats, said they doubted the constitutionality of the provision authorizing Wallace to "order" marketing agreements for handlers of a half-dozen commodities, they apparently were anxious to retain essentials of the farm adjustment law and willing to leave debatable points to the courts.

Pictures Taxes As Home Owner's Foe

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Frank A. Vanderlip, the financier, declared tonight that recent developments in the real estate scene have added a new "villain" to the traditional American melodrama of saving the old homestead from the mortgage holder.

"He is less tangible than the old time mortgage holder," he said.

"He is 'the government.'"

The new "villian," Vanderlip said, was threatening the "very foundation of American life" through excessively heavy real estate tax charges, and forcing home owners—even those with homes free and clear—to let their homes go because of too heavy real estate taxes.

The principal problem in "just taxes" at the present time, he asserted, was to gear taxes with national income.

Railroads Checked By Labor And Law

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—M. J. Gormley, executive assistant to the president of the Association of American Railroads, today declared that labor and the railway coordinator act blocked the railroads in their efforts to reduce operating costs and coordinate terminal facilities.

Speaking before the 41st convention of the American Association of Railway superintendents here, Gormley said that the only way in which railroads could meet the competition of other modes of transportation was in reducing operating costs. He cited operation facts gained from use of steramline trains.

Problems of operating new high speed equipment can be met without drastic changes in trackage or both properties, said F. G. Gurley, assistant to the vice-president of the Chicago, Burlington and Quincy Railroad.

Tom Sawyer's Fence Gets Rained On, Not Whitewash Coating

Hannibal, Mo., June 18.—(AP)—The fence of "Tom Sawyer" fiction—scheduled to be whitewashed here today—was rainwashed instead.

Rain caused postponement at least for a day of the pageant depicting episodes in the life and writings of Mark Twain in this city of the author's boyhood.

He Was Not There

Two years ago sixty police chiefs of suburban cities in Cook County met with State's Attorney Courtney to consider a united war on crmie and to pledge co-operation in the apprehension of criminals. Among them was Chief John Faller of Evergreen Park.

One day last week the police chiefs met again with the state's attorney. Chief Faller was not there, and for a good reason. He is now in the state penitentiary, convicted on a charge of disposing of a stolen car. The prosecutor explained:

"We were wise to him at the conference two years ago. He was associated with automobile thieves. They basically are responsible for most crime. He is in the penitenary now."

Some people feel that a public official who can get "in right" with gangs and criminals has a sort of mastery of the situation and is really "sitting pretty." Nothing could be farther from the truth, as the case of the Evergreen Park police chief illustrates. Instead of associating with brother officers in the war on crime, he is now in prison because he associated with thieves to promote crime. His associations eventually got him out of a position of public trust and into the penitentiary.

Feeding Dollars

The United States Treasury helped France to weather her recent financial crisis and to remain on the gold standard. Secretary Morgenthau fed dollars into the French money market and took the Paris gold in exchange, enabling the government to obtain cash and meet the demands on the French bank.

This statement is given on the authority of M. Jean Tannery, Governor of the Bank of France. Naturally the French financiers feel grateful, but just why Morgenthau should want France to stay on gold is hard to explain. Perhaps the United States treasury experts know that is where this country ought to be.

The real reason may be not far to seek. Had France gone off gold, the franc would have been inflated, making it more nearly equal to the dollar in purchasing power. This would have meant keener French competition for American trade abroad.

Most of the world is off gold; but the countries that remain on the standard are somewhat handicapped in trading. They are not strong as commercial rivals. It would therefore be good policy of the non-gold nations to keep the others on the metal.

The "Itching Foot"

Americans have an "itching foot," which accounts for the shift of population between city and country and thru the suburbs, in the opinion of L. Seego, consultant of the State Planning Board of Ohio. People move from one population area to another and give the statisticians something to do.

Failing to succeed in one location, they "pull up stakes," and move somewhere else. During the decade from 1920 to 1930 the trend was to the cities, and since it has been reversed. People found the city was not so attractive during a depression as in a boom. Mr. Seego has noted a few facts about population changes which are so startling that they keep the census experts scratching their heads.

Between 1900 and 1930 the urban population increased more than 125 per cent.

In the last census decade the urban population increased 14,600,000, whereas the rural population increased only 2,400,000.

During the last census decade one out of every eight cities between 10,000 and 250,000 population, and one out of each five under 10,000, lost population.

Satellite cities—communities fringing metropolitan centers—increased in size an average of 36.2 per cent between 1920 and 1930, whereas non-satellite cities increased in size only 19.4 per cent.

Of the metropolitan districts of a million or more population, the suburban areas within the metropolitan district of Detroit increased in population twice as fast as in Detroit; three times as fast in the Chicago and Pittsburgh districts; three times as fast in the New York-northeastern New Jersey district; six times as fast in the Philadelphia district; more than ten times as fast around St. Louis; and nearly eleven times as fast in the Cleveland area.

Since 1930 Mr. Seego discovers that there has been a reverse flow—a city to country movement—that has resulted in a loss to the cities of some 200,000 persons in 1931 and around half a million in 1932.

Slow Start For Four Billion Project

From The Bloomington Pantagraph

It is now virtually two months since congress passed the legislation setting aside four billion eight hundred million dollars to be expended at the discretion of the President and his advisers to create jobs for a quota of unemployed which the President himself estimated at three and a half million men.

The money was to be all spent within a year from its apportionment, according to provisions of the bills enacted by congress.

But for various reasons, some of them apparently unavoidable, the great enterprise has suffered unexpected delays, and if the goals set are even in a measure attained there must be much greater speed hereafter.

According to a survey just made, the division of applications has received 1,285 project requests totaling about one and a quarter billion dollars. Only 447 of these have been approved.

The advisory allotment board has recommended allocations of funds totaling one billion two hundred millions, and the President has allotted eight hundred fourteen millions of this sum.

None of these vast sums, however, have yet actually been spent to provide employment, in spite of the predictions of the leaders that the drive would be well under way by July 1.

The difficulty seems to be mainly to find projects that will provide employment at the ratio set as to man hours compared with costs of materials. The per capita costs cannot much exceed $1,100 if the four billion fund is to furnish work for three and a half million men.

True, substantial sums from the total have already been used for direct relief under the supervision of releif administrator Harry L. Hopkins. Illinois was one of the states which immediately secured one of these needed allotments.

There is feverish activity throughout the administrative offices in Washington trying to formulate definite plans for getting the money to work in providing employment. But the average citizen can little comprehend what a huge job this is proving.

A Great Anniversary

Today, June 18, is the 120th anniversary of the Battle of Waterloo. It was on this date in 1815 that Napoleon fought his last fight and went down before the British forces that put an end to his domination of the European scene. That Battle established the map of Europe for many years and gave the warring nations a breathing spell.

What Napoleon did for French arms and what he did to the rest of Europe will be remembered as long as the world shall last. Whether any other can ever do likewise is problematical; but if he dared to do it, his career would be as short as was Napoleon's. It is impossible for any one man to conquer the world and keep it subdued for any length of time.

Waterloo brought Europe freedom from a great dictator. Today a single battle would hardly decide the fate of such a ruler; but he would fall before a sequence of events which might have their inception in his own acts.

An Island 'Rediscovered'

Of all the romantic features that attend the coming of the new trans-pacific air service, none is more fascinating than the "rediscovery" of forgotten Guam.

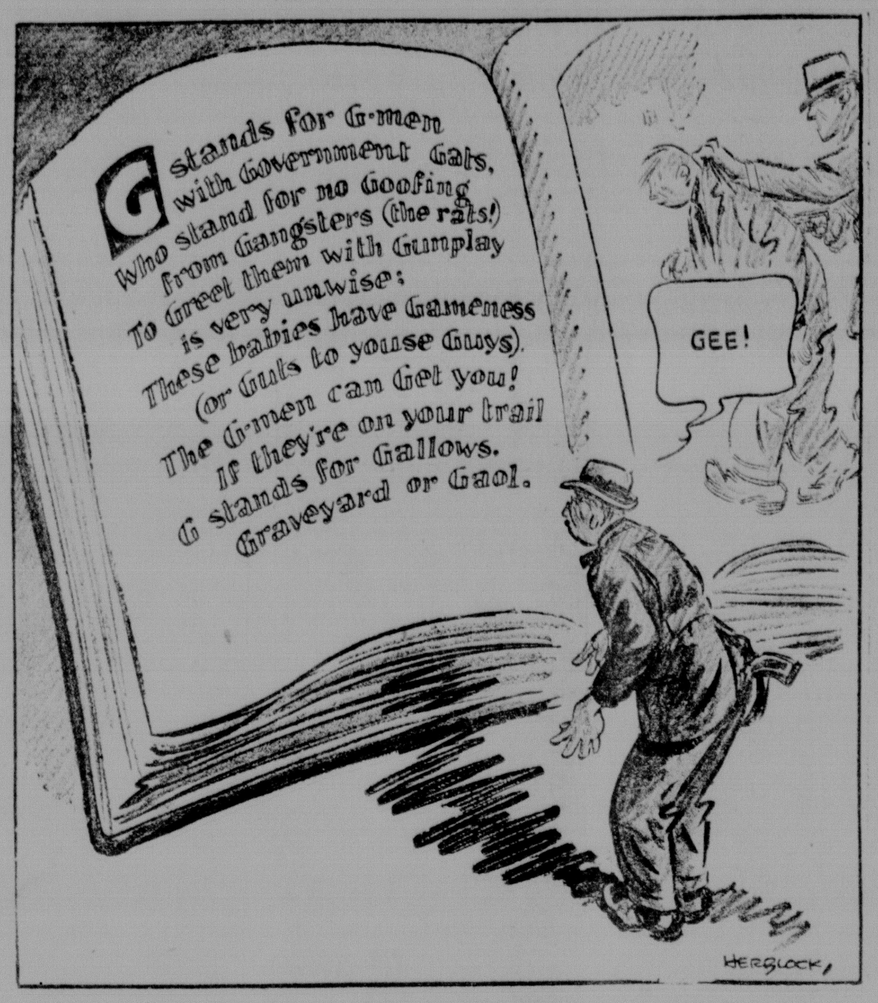

Four decades of isolation under the Stars and Stripes and several centuries of neglect under Spanish rule had left the islanders resigned to their fate. To this smiling tropic island came only warships and an occasional freighter, as its port has been closed under naval administration.

So the joy of the islanders now knows no bounds as they realize that they are to be a part of the great world. Planes flying from California to Asia will make regular stops and strangers from "outside" will find new delights in this garden spot of the Pacific.

No more hospitable people live anywhere than the Chamorros of Guam, as the few travelers who have visited them can attest.

When the first air cruiser swoops out of the blue, every resident of Guam will be at the landing place to celebrate the greatest day in the island's history.

PRIMER FOR CRIMINALS

Behind The Scenes In Washington

Roosevelt Is Only Standout Candidate, Regardless of NRA Downfall . . . G. O. P. Is Shy of a Moses and a Burning Issue . . . F. R. Counts on Gains Before Election.

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal and Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington.—Contrary to the dope other experts may have tried to pour into your pink ears, this correspondent is forced to report to you in all honesty that the U. S. Supreme Court NRA decision was neither a crushing blow nor a great strategic victory for Mr. Roosevelt.

Leaving aside those possibilities which really shouldn't be predicted, because they may not happen, the essentials of the political situation have changed very little in this last exciting month. These things are still true:

1. Mr. Roosevelt is the only outstanding presidential candidate.

2. The Republicans haven't found a popular candidate.

3. Chances for an effective third party are more dismal than at any other time in the last year.

Most progressive leaders figure on supporting Roosevelt in 1936 against a probable coalition of conservative Republicans and Democrats. Meanwhile, the president continues to veer perceptibly toward the left.

* * *

Hoover's Act Flops

The key to a political situation is to be found only in the emotions, fears, and aspirations of the voters. Thus, you can get a partial slant by observing the outbursts of popular enthusiasm which follow the recurrent public remarks of Mr. Hoover.

You haven't noticed any? Well, the human eye and the human ear have their limitations.

It's the job of party leaders to present Republicanism in a new, attractive package. Since neither major party is more than a name and a political machine, the job is a tough one.

Of course that doesn't mean that it can't be done. But popular disillusionment with the Roosevelt program, a prerequisite, is just beginning to tell.

* * *

Promises Hold Voters

Roosevelt remains the great "promiser." Handicapped by the fragrant memory of Mr. Hoover's promises and what happened to them, the Republicans can neither out-promise F.D.R. nor—as yet—persuade the masses of voters that he isn't trying to keep those lovely promises and to some degree succeeding.

Failure of the populace to get excited about the death of NRA was the chief factor behind Roosevelt's failure to let the supreme court issue become a political issue at this time. To what extent it becomes such issue later depends on the supreme court itself and the future course of the recovery curves.

NRA had reached a point where it was neither a political asset nor a political liability. Fighting for a constitutional amendment or a curb on the court's power for the sake of a New Deal experiment about which few were more than lukewarm would have been to play into Republican hands.

* * *

Court May Provide Alibi

But before election time the supreme court is likely to have passed on the AAA processing taxes, the Wagner labor relations act, and the economic security program. Conceivably, it may knock out all three.

Pressure from farmers, workers, and old folks probably would then be nearly irresistible. It would certainly provide Roosevelt with plenty of support in any stand he took as to the court, meanwhile leaving him no alternative but to fight the supreme court issue to a finish.

Meanwhile, Roosevelt is still betting on continued gradual recovery between now and election time. He doesn't believe the effects of the NRA collapse will stop it.

On the other hand, if things do go wrong, that can be blamed on the supreme court—without whose decision there would be no alibi.

* * *

Just a Mild Threat

The conservative coalition against Roosevelt, which seems to be the chief dream of President Jouett Shouse of the American Liberty League, isn't likely to be a serious threat unless there's a business slump.

Its present popular appeal seems very small, though it is likely to be supported by the bulk of business and financial interests. Plenty of officers in the movement, but not many privates.

Relief Labor Will Be Designated by Employment Office

New Orders Received as to Selection of People for Works Program

According to preliminary orders received by the county relief administration and the local office of the National Re-employment Service, the actual selection of employable persons from relief families for the new works program will be made through the National Re-employment offices. This county is prepared for this move and both offices here are awaiting further orders that will give details as to how the new work is to be handled.

The registration of all employable persons from relief families must be completed by July 1. In the registration, names, addresses, and occupations are required, so that the employables may be assigned to projects for which they are qualified.

Relief administration agencies are authorized to furnish lists of employables to the designated employment offices. In this county the National Re-employment Service and the Relief Administration have been working together from the first, and preparations for placing relief labor in the new works program are farther along than in most counties in the state.

The order for all employable persons receiving relief from public funds to be registered with the employment service has been issued by Harry L. Hopkins, FERA administrator.

Child of Former Residents Injured

Rudolph Story, 5, Victim of Serious Accident in Santa Ana

Rudolph Story, 5 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Webster Story of 1456 Maple avenue, Santa Ana, Calif., is near death in a hospital there as the result of being struck by an automobile. The parents are former residents of Jacksonville.

The Santa Ana Daily Register said of the boy's injuries:

His skull is fractured across the frontal bones about the eyes where his head struck the rear fender of a dairy car driven by H. K. McIlvain, 2448 Riverside Drive. One eye is gone. His nose is crushed, and the facial skin is badly torn.

The accident happened as little Rudolph, who had been playing with the neighbor children across the street from his home, turned suddenly and ran into the path of the McIlvain car, it is reported.

McIlvain applied his brakes and turned his car suddenly in the hope of avoiding the youngster, and almost succeeded, but the boy's face struck the rear right fender of the car.

The driver of the car picked up the injured lad and rushed him to the hospital, where his condition today was reported as unchanged, but admittedly critical.

While the distraught young parents were hovering about a hospital bed, their other son, Ronald, 19-months old, reported ill with measles, was being cared for by relatives and friends.

The boys' father is an employe of the Banner Produce company in the Grand Central Market, and their grandfather, Frank L. Story of 1515 South Broadway, is yard foreman for the Liggett Lumber company.

B. & P. CLUB BACKS OLD AGE PENSIONS

Local officers in the Jacksonville Business and Professional Woman's club have received word that Miss Martha Connole, Illinois state chairman, has requested all clubs to adopt a program of action for improvement in educational facilities, better government and to back Mrs. Lucile McVicker Lipman in her plan to finance the Old Age Pension bill.

Miss Martha Connole is well known by Jacksonville club members and they will be pleased to know that she is planning a trip to this city during the fall, at which time she will speak to the society.

Mrs. Lillian Danskin is the local legislative chairman and has a very active committee.

CALLED TO BEDSIDE

Carrollton Girls Give Rose Pageant

Beautiful Scenes Enacted Before Large Audience at Methodist Church

Carrollton, Ill.—A group of young ladies, under the direction of Mrs. M. A. Beger, wife of Rev. M. A. Beger, pastor of the local Methodist Episcopal church, presented an entertainment entitled the "Rose Feast," featuring "Grandmother's Rose Jar", at the church recently. The play was presented to a large audience, and was very well acted.

The interior of the church was transformed into a bower of roses, there being many thousands of roses of all varieties in the floral draping.

As if by magic the young ladies who each represented a rose, appeared from "Grandmother's Rose Jar", in the garden of memory. The cast for the "Rose Feast" were: June, Aleathea Goedde; pink rose, Vivian Driver; wild rose, Leona Brannan; white rose, Melba Wood; jacqueminot, Imogene Jouett; yellow rose, Agnes Robinson; American Beauty, Aileen Mehrhoff; grandmother, Margaret Simonds. Choruses and special numbers were rendered by Amanda Oeser, Annadell Pegram, Edna Bowman, Kathleen Morrow, Martha Helen Robinson, Florence Jouett, Betty Jane Beger. The accompanist was Dorothy Ann Waller, who also played special numbers. Refreshments of ice cream and cake were served in the Sunday school rooms, which was also beautifully decorated as a rose garden. The proceeds of the "Feast" is used on the class pledge to the church budget.

Rev. John C. Rowe, S.J.-M.A.-L.L. M., a son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Rowe of Carrollton, will be ordained to full Jesuit orders next Sunday, June 23, at St. Mary's Seminary, St. Mary's, Kansas. Rev. Rowe was reared in this community. He will be here at St. John's Catholic church for the week following his ordination.

The summer schedule of services has become well established and is operating with the usual attendance at the earlier hours. Sunday school attendance was 322 and the offering $7.59.

The third quarterly communion was served at the morning service in a very impressive manner under the direction of the pastor ably assisted by the ministers of the congregation. At the conclusion of the service three new members were received by transfer and one on confession of faith. Donald Littler was the guest soloist.

Next Sunday will be the last Sunday that Dr. Havighurst will be in his pulpit as he will be away on vacation for the following four weeks.

Schmeling Ready to Come to America For Shot at Heavy Championship After Sept. 17

Postdam, Germany, June 18.—(AP)—Max Schmeling is willing to go to America for a crack at James J. Braddock's new heavyweight title, but he isn't going until every possibility of getting Braddock into a European ring has been exhausted.

Although reluctant to do much talking, Schmeling pointed out he is under contract to Walter Rothenberg, German promoter, until September 17 and can not fight under anybody else's auspices until then even if he wanted to.

"Wait until after I fight Paulino Uzcudun," he said. "If I beat him we can lay our plans. I don't want to be caught like Max Baer was because of too much talking."

Meanwhile in Hamburg, Rothenberg who promoted the Steve Hamas-Schmeling bout last March and whose ten months of intensive work was nullified by Baer's defeat, let it be known he is keen to bring Braddock across to meet Schmeling and will guarantee the former $150,000 to fight the German in a neutral country in September.

He told the Associated Press he also would reimburse Braddock for any loss he might sustain by breaking his contract with the Madison Square Garden Corporation which has him signed for the first defense of his title.

"I'll give Braddock $150,000 in cash as soon as he accepts," Rothenburg was quoted.

Close friends of Schmeling said there is no doubt Max will fight Braddock in America if Rothenburg fails to bring the champion to Europe.

New York, June 18.—(AP)—Jimmy Johnston, Madison Square Garden matchmaker, who would like to stage a worlds' heavyweight title fight between Champion James J. Braddock and the German Max Schmeling here in September, said tonight there isn't a chance of Braddock going to Europe for his first title defense.

"We've got Braddock signed and that's all there is to it," said Johnston. "Braddock isn't thinking of breaking the contract, nor is Joe Gould, his manager.

"Braddock doesn't have to defend his title until next year unless he wants to, but if we can get Max over here for a September bout I believe Gould and Jimmy would agree to it."

Gould had no comment on European reports that Walter Rothenburg German promoter, will guarantee Braddock $150,000 to fight Schmeling in Europe.

There also is a possiblity that Max Baer, the dethroned champ, will come back into the garden fold and be given a chance to regain his title.

Baer, who has had a feud on with the garden for some time, called Johnston on the telephone from Asbury Park and hinted he would let bygones be bygones and fight again under the garden banner if given a chance with the champion.

Only 3 Days To Enter Net Meet

Deadline On Entries Set For Noon Saturday; Receive First For District

Only three more days remain to enter the Journal and Courier's ninth annual tennis tournament, the deadline for which is Saturday noon. Everything is in readiness to start the annual battle for city and district singles crowns, and for the doubles tournaments at the MacMurray College courts.

The first of the entries for the district singles was received yesterday from Literberry, Stewart, a starter in several previous Journal and Courier tournaments, sending in his entry.

The next few days are expected to bring a rush of entries as players from this territory rush to get in under the wire. The list is not expected to be as large this year as it has been in the past because of the larger number of players employed, but every effort will be made on the part of the management to accommodate players who have only an hour or two each day to devote to the sport.

It will not be necessary to play every day during the tournament, but players will be expected to co-operate in getting the tournament completed before the Fourth of July. Play will begin Monday, June 24, and continue until a champion is named in each of the three divisions.

Entries should be sent to the Journal and Courier, in care of the sports editor. There is no entry fee.

Although there have not been many entries made as yet in the annual tennis tournament, this column is expecting a lot of business in the next couple days.

There are a lot of boys swinging tennis racquets this year, or perhaps we should have said that there were a lot of them. Rainy weather has stopped them all over the country and they haven't been able to do as much as they would like to in repairing their strokes.

However, the rain has fallen on the just and unjust alike, and the tennis bug probably has drilled its proboscis into the players to cause them to do a little writing in the next day or two.

First word has been received from Jim Winn, former Illinois College first sacker. Winn is now with the Eau Claire club in the Northern League, managed by Johnny Mostil.

Winn has for a room mate "Swede" Wentlandt, North Central college flinger who took a contract with the Boston Red Sox at the same time Winn signed up—just after their last college game.

Winn is playing third base, and in 11 games has batted 411, which isn't so bad for a beginner. It's difficult to imagine Winn on the hot corner after seeing him on the initial sack for so long, but Winn says he likes it fine.

C. W. Whitten, manager of the Illinois High School Athletic Association, and Vera Kraft Noble, head of the Girls Athletic Association of this state, are scheduled to appear today on the convention program at the National Convention for Teachers of the Deaf, now underway here.

George Stafford, intra-mural director and a member of the department of physical education at the University of Illinois, is also expected to be here to appear on the program.

They are about to revive the score card box at Nichols Park for golfers. The box, which was a fixture at the ninth tee, for many years, will be reinstalled for the convenience of golfers who want to get in on some of the special events being planned at the park.

Golfers will be requested to drop their score cards in the box at the end of nine or 18 holes, to aid in making up handicaps, qualifying scores, and in getting information for use in connection with blind bogey tournaments and other things.

Pitts Ready To Put Name On Contract

Declares He Is Glad Of Chance To Make Good And Believes He Can Do It

Albany, N. Y., June 18.—(AP)—Edwin C. "Alabama" Pitts, permitted to enter professional baseball by a decision of Commissioner Landis, was ready tonight to sign a second contract offered by the Albany club of the International League in compliance with Landis' ruling.

Pitts was notified that the new contract, which will bar him from participating in exhibition games, will be ready for his signature at noon tomorrow. Commissioner Landis, in overruling yesterday an edict by the National Association of Minor Professional Baseball Leagues which would have barred Pitts from the game, decided that Pitts could play organized baseball as long as his contract ruled out exhibition games.

Both General Manager Johnny Evers and Al Mamaux, playing manager, said they expected to keep Pitts out of the lineup until the next afternoon game—Sunday.

"Alabama" tried his hand at public speaking at the weekly luncheon meeting of the Albany Kiwanis club.

"Ever since I've been out," he said, "people have been good to me. I'm glad I have the opportunity to make good and I know that I will."

With that brief statement, given in a hesitant and slightly flustered manner, Pitts sat down. A round of applause followed.

Expanded Program Planned For Golfers at Municipal Links at Committee Meet

Planning an extended program for municipal links golfers, the newly appointed Nichols Park Golf committee at its inaugural meeting last night in the mayor's office at the city hall set the dates for the annual match play tournament, a blind bogey tournament, discussed plans for a bigger Nichols Park Open, decided to accept a challenge from Taylorville for an inter-city match, and discussed plans for a junior tournament.

Qualifying for the Nichols Park tournament, which will name a champion to meet the winner of the Country Club tournament for the city championship, will begin this Friday, and continue for ten days. Pairings for the first round of play will be made July 1, and the first round will be played off from July 2 through July 8. The second round will begin July 9 and last through July 15, and the third round will be played from July 16 through July 22. The championship match will be played Sunday, July 28.

The committee also set July fourth for the special Blind Bogey tournament, and made arrangements for a handicap tournament to be played between the close of the match play tournament and the annual Medal Play open tournament.

No dates have been set for the match with Taylorville's municipal links golfers, but the committee, composed of Cary Vise, chairman, Charles Wolke, Curtis Templin, Peter Korsmeyer and Ernest Savage, decided to accept the challenge to play a home and home match this year. The park will form a 20 man team for the matches with the Taylorville club.

Players will be required to shoot an 18 hole qualifying round to enter the match play tournament, during the next ten days. The field will be divided into flights of 16 golfers, each group of 16 shooting for flight prizes. The winner of the championship flight will meet the Country Club champion in a special match for the city championship. Matches for the first three rounds of play will be based on 18 holes, and the final matches in all flights will be over a 36 hole route.

Describe Fear That "Gets" Big Leaguers

Some Clubs Experiencing Bad Cases of Trouble

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

The season pennant contenders' fear that few manage to avoid seems to be coming on major league baseball. That's the time when some important player gets sick or is hurt, and the managers' carefully laid plans have to be re-arranged.

The latest victims of the scourge are the Pittsburgh Pirates and Cleveland Indians, both of whom hope to finish at or near the top.

Cleveland's first-string catcher, little Frankie Pytlak, finally gave up his effort to recover from an illness while wandering around with the club and left for his home in Buffalo. The Tribe didn't miss him much when Bill Brenzel substituted ably and made two hits in an 11 to 2 triumph over the Red Sox.

The Pirates got a worse blow just after they had slugged the Phillies into submission, 12 to 5, without their leading clouter, Arky Vaughan, who is nursing a charley horse. Darrell (Cy) Blanton, brilliant rookie pitcher who has won nine games against five losses was stricken with acute appendicitis and hurried to a hospital for an operation.

The Indians, after being delayed a half hour by the rain which wiped out three other American League games, piled up 17 blows, including home runs by Earl Averill and Bruce Campbell, to trounce Boston for the fourth straight time and move into a tie with Detroit for third place in the American League.

Pittsburgh gathered in 22 blows off three Philly pitchers and increased its margin over the third-place St. Louis club to a game and one-half as the Cardinals were buried under a 14 to 3 score by the league leading Giants. For the Phils, Johnny Moore belted his twelfth home run of the year to tie Mel Ott of New York for the league lead.

The Giants got going against Paul Dean for three runs in the second inning, belted him to cover in the fourth when the Cards blew up for three errors and four more runs counted and finished against Ray Harrell for a total of 19 hits.

The cellar-dwelling Braves smote the Reds twice in the course of the Bunker Hill day doubleheader, 8 to 3 and 5 to 1, and left the losers only a few points ahead of Philadelphia. Two homers by Chuck Klein, each with a man aboard, gave the Cubs their winning margin in a 5 to 3 triumph over Brooklyn.

Vote Increase In Distributive Fund

Springfield, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—A five million dollar annual increase in the state school distributive fund was voted by the house appropriations committee in a tumultous session this afternoon.

Following the advice of the University of Illinois trustees against that of Governor Horner, the committee voted to give the university $13,453,802 during the next two years. The administration had asked that this amount be reduced about $600,000.

The session was so noisy that it was necessary to clear the room of all but committee members and newspapermen to get business transacted.

House Favorable to Gas Tax Provisions

Municipalities May Be Allowed Home Rule

Springfield, Ill.—(AP)—Home rule for Illinois municipalities in spending their one-third share of the state gasoline tax has been voted by the House of Representatives.

The bill by Representative L. M. Green, Rockford Republican, to provide that the State Department of Public Works and Buildings shall have no jurisdiction over the spending of the money by cities and villages was passed by the House at its Monday night session.

No change is made in the allocation under which municipalities get a third of the gas tax funds, after two per cent has been deducted for collection costs and less a reserve for the retirement of the $30,000,000 relief bond issue.

If the Green bill is finally enacted, however, the state would not be permitted to approve or disapprove the contracts for street improvements and the funds could be spent on any street, instead of only on state routes.

Walter S. Liddall, conservative, said he intends to raise the matter in a similar fashion and will ask Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, to state whether the government, in initiating negotiations with the United States, will make sure the management of the public utilities securities corporation "shall not be exercised in a manner prejudicial to the customers of the statutory undertakings indirectly controlled by the public utilities securities corporation."

Pick Jury To Hear Case Against Piquet

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Fourteen men who had not seen two recent movies heroizing "G" men were chosen today to hear the government's case against Attorney Louis Piquett, charged with harboring Homer Van Meter, Dillinger gangster.

Special Agent R. C. Coulter, a "G" man who was on Van Meter's trail when the gangster was shot to death Aug. 23, 1934, in St. Paul, was to testify tomorrow as the first of the government's 15 witnesses.

The jury of 12 men and two alternates was sworn in after the defense accepted only those veniremen who had neither seen the "G" men movies nor read a magazine article by Attorney General Homer Cummings on the subject of criminals and lawyers.

LOOKS LIKE BRADDOCK, ASSERTS MATCHMAKER

New York.—It looks like Braddock vs. Schmeling in September.

Jimmy Johnston, peppery little matchmaker for Madison Square Garden, said last night he had been informed Max Schmeling, former heavyweight champion, was ready to come to this country from Germany if assured a title go and that he, Johnston, had decided to stage the fight in the Long Island bowl in late September.

Although he has not received the final sanction of Jimmy Braddock and his manager, Joe Gould, Johnston said they had told him they would agree to a meeting with either Schmeling, Lasky, or the dethroned Max Baer.

Braddock, who jabbed his way to the fistic pinnacle last Thursday night, is vacationing with Gould and could not be reached immediately. Gould previously had said Braddock would not defend his crown for at least a year.

Schmeling in his last two fights in Europe scored technical knockouts over Walter Neusel and Steve Hamas.

Nebraska Governor Gets Arbitration Of Utility Strike

Both Sides Agree To Talk Over Differences When Governor Acts

Omaha, Neb., June 18.—(AP)—Swift, uncompromising strokes by Governor R. L. Cochran today substituted peaceful arbitration for rioting and martial law in Omaha's street car strike. Scarcely a day ago he "commanded" arbitration. Today he got it.

The military dictator skipped rapidly over formalities and gave his instructions to the arbiters in these words:

"Give me some quick action."

The first arbitration board meeting was called for tonight.

The break in a two months long controversy of blood bitterness came in the middle of a ham sandwich. At 2:15 p. m. today, while Cochran was eating a lunch in his room, the executive received a telephone call.

He left the telephone with a broad grin. "Both sides have agreed to arbitrate," he said.

The exact terms of the arbitration agreement were not divulged. Cochran said all "cardinal" points would be arbitrated, apparently including reemployment of all the strikers and seniority rights. He asserted both sides had agreed to abide by the arbitration court's findings.

Bulls Nibble Of Railroad Shares

New York, June 18.—(AP)—The stock market bulls nibbled away at the share list today. Rails seemed to their taste, along with a few specialties, but their appetite was not voracious.

The buying movement in the carriers spread to the bond market where secondary transportation loans were well taken, many at new 1935 highs. Other groups of corporate issues were generally a little improved, while U. S. goxernments were about steady.

Buying sentiment in securities was stimulated by the better tone in grains.

In spite of the fact that buying seemed selective and cautious, the 3 of a point rise in the Associated Press average of 60 stocks was sufficient to set a new 1935 peak of 44.5. The previous top was made last Saturday at 44.2.

Early carloadings reports for individual roads supplied a convenient background for the rail buyers. Better traffic was reported by such roads as Chesapeake & Ohio, North Western, Illinois Central, Pere Marquette and Nickel Plate.

Th turnover in the stock exchange was only 885,430 shares.

Late Rise Scored In Bond Market

New York, June 18.—(AP)—After loafing around most of the day without showing much change, the corporate bond market came to life during the final hour of trading today when renewed activity in junior rails lifted many 1 to 2 points. U. S. governments were steady.

A large assortment of industrial and utility bonds, which like the rails had backed and filled in a narrow trading area were pulled into the upward movement, but there was a higher degree of selectivity in these groups than elsewhere and a number ended unchanged to a trifle lower.

Ending the 14th consecutive session of rising prices, the Associated Press average of 20 rails advance .3 of a point to 83.0, while the averages of the other domestic groups were .1 of a point lower to .2 of a point higher. Transfers aggregated $12,446,000, par value, compared with $12,846,000 on Monday. The turnover in governments approxmated $1,070,000 against $1,390,000 the day before.

Grains Register 1 To 2 Cent Gains

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—Gains of one to two cents a bushel were scored by wheat and corn futures today as the grain market reflected trade advices of unfavorable crop conditions in parts of the winter wheat and near by corn belts because of excessive rainfall.

Corn led the advance. Reports of further planting delays, particularly in central Illinois and Missouri, increased fears that the 1935 crop may be seriously retarded in some regions. Wheat buyers acted on talk of a wet harvest from the southwest. A pricate advice from Oklahoma hinted at this prospect and contained a statement that grain men there believe the crop has gone back in the last week. Wheat bleaching due to excessive moisture also was reported.

Wheat prices rose 1¼ to 1¾ cent above the previous finish, closing with July 81¾@¾c, and corn was 1¼ to 2¼c higher, July 81¾@82c. Oats gained ¾@¾c, rye 1 to 1¾c and barley was unchanged.

Rather conspicuous buying by a house with eastern connections attracted attention in the corn pit. September sold as high as 76¾c at one time, the best price this month and four cents above yesterday's low point. July corn sold above July wheat, a rare situation in the futures market.

Hog Market Breaks 15 To 25 Cents

Chicago, June 18.—(AP)—After a month of ineffectual bearish pressure upon hog prices, the market here finally broke 15 to 25 cents in late trading today as the effect of narrow demand for dressed beef and lamb was communicated to the poor division.

Local receipts of 15,000, including 6,000 billed directly to packers, were larger than a week ago, but outside markets reported smaller runs. Shippers had light orders, taking 3,900 hogs, and an early top of $9.90 was out of line in the closing round when the best medium weight butchers went for $9.55-70.

A total of 3,000 hogs were left over from the day's trade.

Further discounts were necessary to clear the moderate cattle supply of 6,000 head, but even with concessions of 25 cents made on all classes of fed steers and yearlings, the movement to the packers' scales was sluggish. Strictly prime beeves, 1309 lb. averages, topped at $12.60 and yearlings at $11.25, which the bulk of grain fattened steers moved at $8.50-11.25.

Summer Sweethearts

By Mabel McElliott © 1935, NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY

KATHARINE STRYKHURST, 20 and beautiful, allows her emotions to rule when she marries MICHAEL HEATHEROE, young riding instructor who comes into a title and fortune. Katharine's father is rich and her stepmother is snobbish.

The night following his marriage Michael is injured in a traffic accident and when he regains consciousness his memory is impaired. He forgets the marriage. Katharine, unaware of this, believes he has deserted her. She plans to leave for New Mexico and her friend, VIOLET MERSER, agrees to engage a lawyer in her absence to arrange an annulment of the marriage.

DR. JOHN KAYE, an old friend, sees Katharine off on her trip. He tells her he has always loved her.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXXV

VIOLET MERSER was weeding her rosebed when she saw Michael ride by. It was the first time she had caught a glimpse of him since his accident and since Katharine's amazing disclosure. Katharine had been gone two days now. Stanley Merser was taking steps toward the end the girl was now so anxious to attain—the annulment of that astonishing marriage ceremony a few weeks before.

"The man must be a most horrible villain," Violet said to herself, prodding at the earth about the roots of a Dorothy Perkins. "And yet—he doesn't look like one in the least." She was rather ashamed of her earlier enthusiasm for Michael.

The whole thing was definitely queer. First the boy had engaged himself to Sally Moon. That made him appear a fortune hunter. Then he had run off with Katharine on what seemed now a most cruel impulse, only to behave as though the whole thing had never happened at all.

Violet stood up, brushing her earth-stained hands impatiently together. She ought to go to see him, ought to find out how he stood in the matter before Stan turned the affair over to Adrianson, their discreet lawyer friend.

She washed her hands at the sink in the gleaming small kitchen and called to Lavinia who was on the porch, shelling peas for the children's lunch, that she was going to walk up the road a bit. Michael's horse had been headed in the direction of the riding club. And he had been alone. It would be a good time to talk to him.

• • •

As Violet Merser turned into the lane that ran beside the old shingled house she could see the tall figure of the man she sought, standing in the doorway of the stable.

"Good morning!"

Michael whirled, his eyes clouded, his muscles taut.

"Good morning," he said without smiling. These days were difficult ones to be got through. Strange people were always coming up to him and being brisk and hearty. He had to fend them off as best he could.

Something in the wariness of his attitude put Violet off. All at once she was conscious that her errand lacked dignity. It was not for her to meddle in Katharine's affairs. She said rather lamely, "About the horses—for the little girl. She hasn't been riding lately."

Michael bowed. His tone was formal, aloof.

"Do you mind seeing Jerry, my assistant, about that? I haven't been well lately . . ." He passed his hand over his eyes and, with another stiff little bow, went into the house.

Jerry was at her elbow. Somehow Violet managed to say something coherent to him, to walk away. But her brain was whirling.

"Good heavens!" she cried to herself. "What if that should be the explanation of it all? What if he doesn't really know what happened?"

You heard of such things. To the healthy person such a possibility seemed extremely farfetched. But Violet knew it was not out of the bounds of reason.

He had been struck on the head, perhaps. The newspaper account had said "multiple bruises." Who could tell what damage had been done?

She walked swiftly toward her own house, eager to put through a telephone call to her husband.

"Stan, have you got in touch with Adrianson yet?"

His slow, reassuring voice answered her. "Have an appointment with him at two. Why? Anything happen?"

She dared not talk over the telephone. Everyone said the exchange operators listened. "Can you postpone it?" she asked. "I think I've hit on something. It may be a hunch. I don't know."

• • •

"I DON'T understand why you want me to do it so quietly," pouted Sally Moon. "Old Ruthie down at the Innicock News has been calling up every day to see if I've any date to give her. She's anxious to run the story of the wedding, but she doesn't dare say a word about it as long as I tell her to hold off. And probably everyone's talking about me. Probably they say the thing's off."

"I have my reasons," Mr. Moon said solemnly. If Sally weren't so wrapped up in her own affairs, he thought, she would be able to figure out the problem for herself. He wanted all the votes he could get for village trustee and the election was next week. With a big wedding going on and Sally insisting on getting all her flowers and catering things from the city instead of patronizing the local tradesmen (who were sure to be antagonized), the election would be certain to go against him. He knew Innicock. He hadn't been president of the bank for 20 years without learning a good deal about the way the minds of the villagers worked.

He had several reasons for not telling Sally this. The first was that she would not consider the argument weighty enough. She had her own way of over-riding all his objections. The second was that an air of mystery impressed her more than straightforwardness. She was inclined to be a bit mysterious herself. "Sneaky," Mr. Moon called it. Like her mother's people. None of the Moons had been sneaky—all open and aboveboard like himself. Still, a man had to protect his interests against the depredations of his womenfolk. Women had no consciences whatever when they wanted their own way.

He wouldn't be sorry to see Sally married. She'd been a bit of a problem since her mother died. Cocktails, flirtations, all kinds of craziness, her father told himself. This young fellow was good with horses. Maybe he'd hold the whip hand over Sally as well. He chuckled at the thought.

"What are you chortling about?" Sally wanted to know rather angrily. Really her father was being too stuffy about this. It made her tired. But since he held the purse strings there was no fighting him. And she wanted a trousseau that would put everyone's eye out.

"Nothing." He changed the subject hastily. "You going into town today to shop?"

That was always a good way to divert her. Her black eyes sparkled at the thought of trying on clothes, of watching mannequins parade (because this time she was going to the really expensive places and have the very best), and of choosing hats and shoes and cobwebby stockings to supplement those already piled in boxes and bags in her room. Whatever you might say about Daddy Moon, Sally reflected, you couldn't accuse him of being stingy.

• • •

SHE had read in last night's newspaper of Katharine Strykhurst's departure for the west. And she had felt a tiny prick of relief. While Katharine had been around Sally hadn't felt entirely easy about Michael. He had been restive at times. Sally had suspected in the beginning that he was attracted to Katharine, although why anyone would prefer that cool young woman to her own rather buxom self, Sally could not imagine.

Well, Michael was more tractable since he'd been ill. He really seemed to depend on her these days. She bossed him around as she hadn't dared to do before.

Her cousin, Annabel, was coming on from Syracuse for the wedding. And Michael had been so vague about providing a best man that Sally had wired Annabel to bring her fiance (expenses paid) to serve. Annabel's young man was a fledgling mining engineer with a brand new diploma. Sally, marrying a title, felt very superior.

Well, Annabel and Joseph would arrive on Tuesday, and they would have a rehearsal Tuesday night. Daddy Moon had agreed to that. The wedding would be on Wednesday, and invitations would go out by hand the day before. It was, Sally told herself, a pretty queer way to do things, but her father had some crazy notion in his mind. It didn't do to argue with him when he was like this.

She longed to shout the news from the housetops. But she didn't dare. Well, all the old cats who had been so nasty to her would know soon enough. Let them gnash their teeth then. See how they liked it

She'd snub them if she ever met them on the street.

Another thing she had to do today. She had to stop at Tiffany's and choose a platinum band that Michael could pay for later. He didn't want to go into the city, he said. She was having to arrange everything. She had even sent out a tailor who was to measure him for correct morning clothes.

She'd thought of everything. There couldn't possibly be a hitch in the proceedings now. A week from Wednesday she would be Lady Carden.

progress in that field was at a standstill due to the conflicting programs of the proponents of the American Braille system and the New York Braille system. Since a compromise system of Braille has been adopted, workers with the blind have forged ahead with a unified organization that has done much for the prevention of blindness and has been responsible for the outstanding achievement represented by the talking book for the blind.

"Much to Be Done

"In the education of the deaf, there is much to be done," Mr. Pope said. "First of all we must teach the children how to take their place in the outside world. This work must begin with us and we must set a proper example for them by showing wholehearted cooperation in our work."

Mr. Pope emphasized that the research of public schools can be successfully applied to work with the deaf to a greater degree and that research within the profession must constantly be pursued.

"The deaf child is a foreigner in his own home," Mr. Pope said. "If that was not so, there would be no need for residential schools. However inasmuch as this fact remains true it is our job to naturalize him. Many parents are loathe to part with their children. It is here that the day schools become valuable. We will always have day schools and there is a very definite part for both residential and day schools in our field."

Reviews Deaf History

Mr. Pope gave brief histories of the four participating organizations, stating that the American Convention of Instructors of the Deaf was established in 1850 and incorporated by an act of Congress in 1897. The present membership is 750 and its aim is to help the teachers in every way possible.

The American Association for the Promotion of Teaching Speech to the Deaf was founded in 1890 by Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, inventor of the telephone. It is closely allied with both the profession and the hard of hearing. The Society of the Progressive Oral Advocates was begun by Dr Max Goldstein of Central Institute for the Deaf in 1920 and is closely connected with the day schools.

The Conference of Executives of American Schools for the Deaf, the fourth participating organization, is composed of one executive from each of the residential and day schools.

General Meeting of Convention Features Deaf Instructors Meet

Despite the frequent downpours of rain, delegates to the 29th meeting of the American Convention of Instructors of the Deaf at the Illinois School yesterday carried out a full program of demonstrations, meetings and discussions. A reception and dance given by Mr. and Mrs. D. T. Cloud concluded the day's activities.

The program was featured by the general meeting of the convention at which Supt. Alvin E. Pope of the New Jersey school, in his president's address, complimented the teachers for the progress that has been made in removing dissension and conflicting programs from within their ranks, and urged a continuation of the cooperation shown by the four participating organizations.

A motion to change the name of the organization to American Educators of the Deaf was tabled for further consideration.

Dr. Elise H. Martens, senior specialist in the Education of exceptional children of the U. S. Department of Interior, Washington. Dr. J. C. Jaquith, president of Illinois College, were among the prominent educators who addressed yesterday's sessions.

Dr. Jaquith told of his work in establishing the first school for the deaf in Greece and of his great interest in the work since that time. He welcomed the delegates in behalf of Illinois College and complimented the Illinois School for the Deaf and Managing Officer D. T. Cloud for the present high standard of work being done in the institution which has been in existence for almost a century.

He told of the pleasant relationship between the two institutions and pointed out the resultant opportunities offered to students of both schools, mentioning the chance for psychological and sociological studies by the college students, the opportunity for the deaf boys and girls to attain a more normal relationship with outsiders, and the courtesy of the State Department of Public Welfare in providing positions for college students at the school to enable them to continue their schooling.

Illinois College Test

Telling of a test conducted by Illinois College and covering forty outstanding news items of the preceding month, Dr. Jaquith declared that the results showed that deaf children were capable of accomplishments equal to those of hearing children. The test was given 125 students at the School for the Deaf and they made a median total score of 13 out of a possible 40, comparable with the same median score made by the sophomore class in the Jacksonville high school.

Dr. Martens spoke on "Mental Hygiene in Relation to Individual Differences." She took as her keynote the fact that "the same philosophy of education must apply to all children, whether bright or dull, whether hearing or deaf, whether crippled or bodily whole."

"The fundamental principle," she said, "is that each child must be educated in keeping with his capacities, limitations, and interests, looking forward to the happiest adjustment he can make in life and the most constructive contribution he can bring to society. Such an adjustment and such a contribution are the secret of mental health."

Dr. Martens emphasized that it is essential that the teacher must know all that there is to be known about each child who is meeting serious obstacles in the ways of progress. She admitted that these individual differences are in some respects harder to determine in the deaf child than in the hearing child and urged the teachers to devote their research toward an applicable scientific instrument of measurement.

Speaking of the seriously over-aged child with normal intelligence, a problem constantly encountered in school for the deaf she advised the establishment of special opportunity classes where the adjustment may be made without undue embarrassment to the child from having to be taught in classes with children who are considerably younger.

The Illinois School's system of classification of students was described by T. V. Archer, principal. He stated that the plan has been in use in the public schools but to his knowledge had never before been applied to schools for the deaf.

After considerable study, the Stanford Achievement Tests were adopted. With approximately 350 pupils to classify, the tests showed that about 50 were hopelessly below grade, many of them being over-age and some were apparently of low mentality. These were placed in ungraded classes where language, reading and arithmetic were stressed. The other 300 students were classified according to the results of the test and it is hoped to put these students on a credit basis where certain subjects can be dropped and others emphasized in the preparation for graduation of students who show greater aptitude toward some subjects.

Miss Mary Farbaugh of the Western Pennsylvania School for the Dead addressed the general meeting on the aims and purposes of Mu Iota Sigma, national honorary fraternity for teachers of the deaf of which she is president. An Illinois chapter the fifth to be chartered in the four years the organization has been in existence, was installed last night at an initiation and banquet at the Colonial Inn.

Supt. Pope Speaks

Urging a unified battle front in the fight for progress in the education of the deaf, Supt. Pope of the New Jersey School, gave the president's address yesterday before 500 delegates at the 29th meeting of the American Convention of Instructors of the Deaf at the Illinois School.

Mr. Pope recalled the dissension within the ranks and between organizations in the field in years past and reminded delegates that this is the third combined meeting of the four participating organizations.

Quoting the parallel situation existent in educational work with the blind, Mr. Pope said that at one time

COLLECTION OF SALES TAX BY TOKEN IS PLAN

Downstate Cities Decide Upon Token-Bracket; Local Representatives Attend

Peoria, Ill., June 18.—(AP)—A combination token and bracket plan for the collection of the three per cent Illinois sales tax which will become effective July 1 was decided upon today by representative merchants and Chamber of Commerce delegates from 14 downstate Illinois cities.

Under the plan, tokens will be accepted as payment of the tax on purchases from five to 15 cents, and a graduating scale on purchases over 15 cents. The tokens will be issued by the state department of finance with a value of one and one-fourth mills, spokesmen said.

The plan calls for the following payments: 1 to 4 cents, no tax; 5 cents, one token; 6 to 10 cents, two tokens; 11 to 15 cents, three tokens; 16 to 50 cents, one cent; 51 to 83 cents, two cents; 83 cents to $1.16, three cents; and contiuing at the same ratio.

The arrangements adopted is a variation from the "Chicago plan," which calls for payment of one cent on 15 cents purchases and eliminates the use of tokens. A so-called "Decatur plan" was rejected because it was feared the higher tax in the upper brackets might occasion consumer protest.

More than 50 persons representing the following cities attended the meeting: Peoria, Pekin, Bloomington, Lincoln, Sycamore, Pontiac, Jacksonville, Canton, Rockford, Champaign, Kewanee, Macomb, Springfield and Decatur. Harold W. Lund, chairman of the trade extension division of the Peoria Association of Commerce, presided.

PAVEMENT OR LAWSUIT CITY COUNCIL RULES

Aldermen In Informal Meet Plan Immediate Action On College Avenue

The City of Jacksonville is tired of "playing along" with the Granite Bituminous Paving Company of St. Louis, Mo., members of the city council agreed at an informal meeting last night. The company must replace one block of faulty pavement on West College avenue or submit to the wrath of the city government in a law suit.

Councilmen met to talk over plans for immediate action on the strip of pavement between South Main and South Sandy streets which rolled up like a blanket, with wrinkles predominating. The asphalt company claims the material was good and that the condition was caused by escape of gas from a main. The City of Jacksonville says the pavement went to pieces because it was not constructed properly.

Aldermen agreed last night to lay down a final ultimatum to the asphalt concern. Either the company replaces the pavement free of cost to the city, or legal proceedings will be instituted. And in the meantime, the aldermen decided, a brick pavement such as is now in service on South Main street, will be laid.

The Illinois State Highway Department already has recommended the laying of brick on the present concrete base and a mastic cushion. A representative of the state department was here yesterday to check up on the situation. He estimated that the job can be done at an expenditure of not more than $1,800, using relief labor.

Councilmen appeared to favor the brick pavement, but are willing to give the asphalt company opportunity to replace the block at its own cost. Should the street be paved with brick the job would be paid for out of motor fuel tax funds. The city then would endeavor to collect damages for the former pavement.

Alderman Franklin Mathews who has been carrying on negotiations with the asphalt company and highway department was instructed to convey the city's final proposition to the St. Louis firm. Two engineers from the state department are expected here today to join in the preliminary arrangements for replacing the pavement.

Mayor Blackburn was absent from the city last night, but all other council members were in their chairs. The council did not organize as the session was entirely informal.

Several property owners along West College avenue where the asphalt pavement has been taken up were at the meeting.
